Chapman said that although the potato crop is not quite so good as in other years it will be large enough to carry the almshouse through the winter.

The other crops are better than the average. To date over 100 bushels of tomatoes have been picked and there are plenty left yet. The sweet corn has been quite plentiful. The corn was picked as early as July 15th and Mr. Chapman says he will have enough to last until frost arrives. He expects to raise 30 bushels of shell beans, and a large quantity of winter turnips and 200 bushels of field corn.

The best crop is also better than the average. Mr. Chapman says five of them will fill an ordinary basket. The almshouse keeps six cows and have cream enough to provide all the butter that is needed the year round. They are making 30 pounds a week and Mr. Chapman has 200 pounds of butter laid away for winter use. Sixteen hogs are kept at the almshouse, and they are all in the pink of condition. Hard times are not expected at the almshouse this coming winter, said Mr. Chapman.

This tax means that where the theatre admission is 20 cents or under there will be an extra cent to pay and where the admission is over 20 cents there will be an extra two cents to pay. When this tax goes into effect it will mean that there is a 15 per cent tax on all theatre amusements, a 10 per cent federal tax and a 5 per cent state tax.
